Living Nativity Week End to be Dec. 22-23

This year's coordinator, Lyn Bristol, has designated Dec. 22 and 23 as Living Nativity Week End. This will be Bethel's 16th anniversary for its special Christmas event. Everyone in the community is invited to participate. There will be something to do for each of you on Saturday, Dec. 22 in preparation for the Nativity performances on Sunday, Dec. 23.

To encourage more participation there'll be something new this year—a one-day "get-it-together." Saturday, Dec. 22 is the big day. Come help with costumes (sweaters, bring scissors, needles, thread—Becky Crommett in charge); Make-Up, Set-Up Manger (bring hammers and nails, strong bodies, wear gloves—all Rotarians in charge); Lights (some wiring experts and helpers needed); Choir and Band (meet at 2:00 to run through music a few times); Performers (40 shepherds, three wise men, one slave [young boy], three angels—youths around six years, and most important a "Holy Family"—call Lyn right away if you have someone in mind—824-2233). Also continued on Page Five Traffic was back to normal this past week. Not so many orange caps and jackets.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Ralph Estes, a former resident, who passed away Nov. 27, at Togus. The funeral was Friday at I. W. Andrews and Sons. He had been in poor health for a long time.

John Estes Jr., who has been a patient at Maine Medical Center, Portland, returned home Wednesday and will visit with his relatives for awhile. We hope his health has improved.

Joseph Barrett, a patient at Ledgeview has been very sick since November 26 but is a bit better this Sunday morning. Bad cold. He was looking forward to dinner at McDonald's on Thursday, Dec. 6, to celebrate our 52nd wedding anniversary but I guess it will have to be delayed. He had so many shots that he said he felt like a pin cushion.

Phil Hyams had his chimney in the log cabin nearly completed Saturday, so they plan to move in soon and do the finishing. They lived in the garage during the building, and have been so glad to have good weather as long as we have.

Eveline Barrett picked up Lula Buck Nov. 28 and they went to the crafts sale at Ledgeview. They had a good sale.

Sharon Scherf and Jennifer called on their Aunt Doris and Uncle Root, also Aunt Eveline Barrett, Saturday.

Word from the "Pete" Collettes tells us that "Pete" got his deer, while visiting his daughter, Nita, and son-in-law, Paul, in Delaware. Bring on the mince meat. We're always hungry.

At the Public Hearing on the proposed reconstruction of a section of Route 26, held at the Raymond C. Foster School Nov. 19, concern was expressed over what was considered the lack of adequate warning signs at the southern end of the reconstruction project completed in 1978. This is at the northerly end of the proposed project. There is a curve at this point and the road narrows abruptly. There have been several accidents at this point since the completion of the 1978 project, and several at the hearing felt that more warning signs should be erected. Allan Smith, Highway Design Engineer for the State Department of Transportation, agreed to have the area checked by D. O. T. officials. The Selectmen were notified by the D. O. T. on Friday that they looked into the matter, and that additional signs would be erected soon. It is expected that if the proposed project is approved that construction would start in the fall of 1980, and would be completed in the summer of 1981.

Winter continues to play hide and seek. After an unusually warm spell the last of November we are back with more seasonal temperatures and light snow.

My items for two weeks ago were given to the mail lady on the usual day, but perhaps because of the holiday they should have been sent a day earlier. The following week my packet of outgoing mail including news items were left in the mail box and incoming mail placed on top. I understand there has been illness and injury among postal personnel in the area so substitute workers have been needed.

Margaret Mitchell tried to make one last trip of the season to her camp but was unable to get up the hill. She plans to leave for Florida this week.

Fred and Marion write that they are settled in their new mobile home in Inverness, Fla., and find it a delightful locale. Elsie's pump house did not pass inspection and must have more work done before she can have her pump re-installed.

Mae Goodrum of Portland spent the week end in town.

The unusual weather continues except for short spells. One evening we had a beautiful thunderstorm which lasted over an hour. Monday, Nov. 26, we had a heavy rain driven by high winds. The water found its way into every unchinked crack.

Most days lately have registered in the 50's and one day the thermometer was high 60's. At night it stays in the 40's.

The latest Ladies Aid meeting was a mix-up. The president agreed a few days previous that it would be good to start early, so some arrived by 1 p. m. Ed Brennan came in with a pane of glass stating Margaret had left it with him.

Lucille Largesse arrived as she had invited the mothers to meet with her to discuss Christmas program and gifts plans. There was no heat in the building as the oil had been used up at Halloween and the electric heaters had not Sebag to have Thanksgiving with her family.

Friday, Blanche and Rosaire Gagnon, Lewiston, spent the day with Zip and Muriel. Saturday, Jim and Peggy Gilbert and three children from Westbrook came for the afternoon. Sunday, Al, Jean, and Michelle Collet had dinner with them.

My nephew, Ralph Mills, of Burlington, Vt., spent much of his vacation making repairs and fixing up Dad's place which he has recently purchased.

arrived. The president had a newly repaired vehicle, so instead of attending the meeting, went for a long awaited and needed permanent. How simple to have gotten oil and borrowed portable heaters, worked on a quilt on one side while the other meeting was in session but the early arrivals went home unhappy, the planning meeting was less than successful for lack of attendance and later members came at the usual time and left. Mr. Brennan left after an hour or so as the pane of glass was a mystery and none responded.

Nine deer were tagged at the station in Upton this year. Lucille Largesse resigned from Christmas Party program leader as she will not be in town during the holidays. She also resigned as member and treasurer of the Ladies Aid as she has too many other occupations.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING FOR PROPOSED WASTEWATER POLLUTION CONTROL FACILITIES

TOWN OF BETHEL, MAINE

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Selectmen will hold a public hearing on the 22nd day of January, 1980, at 7:00 p. m. at the Bethel Savings Bank Meeting Room. The hearing is to discuss the Facilities Plan and Environmental Assessment which are being prepared by DuBois & King, Inc., Engineering Consultants, for the proposed wastewater pollution control facilities. The hearing will provide an opportunity for individuals, industry, and public interest groups to identify and make comments on substantive technical and environmental issues which will be considered in the Final Plans for the wastewater treatment facilities.

The proposed project involves the upgrading of the existing wastewater collection system and wastewater treatment facility to provide secondary treatment (i. e., removal of biochemical oxygen demand and suspended solids). The system will be designed to treat up to 300,000 gallons of wastewater per day in the design year. Total construction costs are estimated at $2,041,000, of which the Town's share will be approximately $410,000.

More detailed information on the proposed project is available and can be reviewed at the Town Clerk's Office. All interested persons are urged to review this information and to attend the public hearing to be heard on questions or statements relative to the project.

The public hearing will be held in accordance with the requirements of the United States Environmental Protection Agency as outlined in the Code of Federal Regulations, Title 40, Part 6.512 and Part 6.517, thus fulfilling a requirement for grant eligibility under Public Law 92-500.

ANDOVER ELEMENTARY SCHOOL SEEKS SOUP LABELS

Andover Elementary School is in the midst of a special collection drive aimed at obtaining greatly needed audiovisual and athletic equipment, reference books and teaching aides. The program—Labels for Education—is sponsored by Campbell Soup Company and offered to public, private and parochial schools (with any of the grades K-8). "Between now and Feb. 23, we hope to collect enough labels from Campbell's products to earn a carousel slide projector. We need 10,000 labels," said Linda Clark, chairman of the drive. "Our students are saving these labels, and they would appreciate it if friends of the school would do the same."

Any Campbell's Soup, Bean, Tomato Juice, "V8" or Franco-American label counts in the drive. Swanson canned foods have also been added to the list.

Naturally, this is a voluntary project for students and their families. However, anybody having any of the labels listed above in their cupboard, and if they ordinarily purchase Campbell's products, your label contribution would be appreciated. The label collection will continue until Feb. 22, 1980. Labels can be sent to the school and postage will be refunded, or given to any of this school's students.

CEREMONY OF CAROLS TO BE PRESENTED DEC. 15 & 16 IN SOUTH PARIS
First and friends, a 40 voice choral group made up of interested members of the Oxford Hills area, will perform Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" on Dec. 15 and 16 at 7:30 p. m. at the First Congregational Church in South Paris. "Ceremony of Carols" is a collection of early English carols set to music by 20th century composer, Benjamin Britten. The piece of music contains soprano solos and a soprano duet as well as selections for the full chorus. The ceremony begins and ends with a haunting plainsong-like chant.

The group will also sing three chorales by J. S. Bach, "Wake Awake, for Night is Flying", "Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light," and "Morning Star". Concluding the concert, will be a group of familiar Christmas carols, some sung by the chorus, and some by the chorus and audience, together.

Soloists for the performance will be Marguerite McLaren, June Sawicki, and Karen Chapman. Accompanist will be Darryl Card, recent addition to the S. A. D. 17 music staff. The program is under the direction of Peter Allen, choir director of the First Congregational Church.

Receptions will follow both Saturday and Sunday night concerts, downstairs in the Church vestry, to

VOICES HOLD IN-SERVICE TRAINING PROGRAM

Volunteer Readers at a recent in-service training program learned how to transcribe printed materials into quality sound media for VOICES print handicapped consumers across rural Maine. VOICES Editor, Connie Hindman, stated that one primary training objective is "to help Volunteer Readers think in terms of verbal punctuation rather than rigid adherence to punctuation intended for the eye. It is verbal punctuation that gives coherency and intelligence to audio communication."

VOICES is recognized as the only audio communications center for Independent Living in Maine. VOICES produce and circulate FREE weekly audio newspapers for the visually impaired, legally blind and physically handicapped. Paul Rourke, Director of the Division of Eye Care at Maine's Dept. of Human Services in Augusta, states that "VOICES is a valid, innovative program and an excellent instrument for the direct involvement of consumers" at the grass roots level.

Volunteer Readers were instructed in the mechanics of tape recording by Oliver Nicholas from Norway. Nicholas is a VOICES Consultant/Advisor, as well as a VOICES consumer. External microphones and reading stands were provided to aid Volunteer Readers in their home and/or non-sound booth recordings. "Tape Recording Manuals" from the National Braille Association are being utilized to help Volunteer Readers develop and provide consistent quality audio materials for State-wide distribution to VOICES consumers.

Continuing training programs will give guidance for reading mathematics, figures, tables, charts, graphs and recording in languages other than English. Team recording techniques will be adapted to include responsibilities of narration, monitors and reviewers. Adults interested in becoming Volunteer Readers should contact VOICES in Bethel.

VOICES Editor regards the training programs as a quality control measure to facilitate VOICES weekly audio newspaper for Radio Reading Service programming for 40 stations in 22 states. WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST

"Even though your best friends won't tell you" the slogan or catch-word of the maker of a product that promises to correct a physical condition. We hope you will never hear the words "You never told me" as we apply them to Luke 16: 19 through 31—wherein a man in rags, being conscious, possessing full use of memory—suffers torment and calls upon Abraham to have Lazarus bring a drop of water to cool his lips.

Even now we agonize as we pray for our friends—that we could speak to them—that they would heed God's Word—to realize their need of Christ. We frequently—tearfully (and our friends don't know it) call upon God to reveal their need of a Saviour—that one day we will be together in Heaven—free of sin—sickness and troubles.

The story of Lazarus is not a parable, for rich men and beggars were common—even today we have the poor—all alike needing to take hold the promises of God.

The Christians' responsibility is to take the Lord's leading—being a farmer—planting the seed of righteousness, cultivating it with the possibility of not seeing results "for we look not at the things which are seen . . . for the things not seen are eternal"—2 Cor. 4:18—it is by faith we work—"knowing that we have this treasure as earthen vessels, that the excellency of power is of God and not us", 2 Cor. 4:7—believing and farming in faith, God supplies. "He is the Author and finisher of our faith" Heb. 12:2; "wherefore seeing also we are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight—let us run with patience the race set before us" Heb. 12:1.

needed is a strong-voiced person for Narrator.

The Living Nativity has become a tradition in many families, e. g. Holy Families have moved on to become shepherd families, to working lights, setting up the manger, to singing in the choir. Hopefully the tradition will live long enough to one day have the son of a one-time Jesus doing the honors.

During these times of spiritual testing, let's each of us give just a tiny bit of our time and energy—what one gets in return is a huge bunch of warm fuzzies (good feelings) and a true sense of community.

Remember Saturday, Dec. 22, starting at 9 a.m. in the Moses Mason House, and on the Bethel Common, things will get rolling and hopefully by 3:00 or 4:00 will be the first rehearsal—a walk-through, followed immediately by the final dress rehearsal. This will be the only time that pictures will be taken by newspapers, T. V. stations, your friends, whomever. Flash cameras will be welcome at the Sunday performance due to the distraction they present.

For those who prefer to make snacks, please bring them to the Moses Mason House Saturday morning after 9:00 (cookies, sandwiches, pizzas, whatever).

There's a sign-up poster at Prim's. Please put your name on it and join the group Saturday, Dec. 22.

A Child's Death Trap

According to observational surveys of children traveling in cars, safety authorities note that only 7% of the children are properly restrained. This makes the family automobile the potential death trap for more than 90% of the children riding in automobiles.

How many times have you seen children sitting in a moving automobile without restraining devices? How many children have you seen on adult's laps or standing on car seats? How many in infants' seats which are simply hooked over the back of the auto seat? How many times have you seen a child clinging to the dashboard?

All these apparently innocent practices are acts of negligence which made your child the possible victim of injury... or death.

Many parents either don't think it is necessary to have special restraining devices, or else find it easier to give in to the pleas of their children. They risk cries of pain when they allow themselves to be nagged into giving the child complete freedom of movement to move about the car and to look out the window. In some cases, unfortunately, parents think they provided for their children's safety, only to learn too late that the devices used are faulty.

Statistics and tests prove that most accidents take less than three seconds. The odds are slim that you can step on the brake and protect a child, even with excellent reflexive action. Thus, the seat becomes the launching platform, the child becomes the missile, and the car's interior becomes the deathtrap.

At 20, a 30-pound child is thrust forward with an effective weight of 600 pounds. At 60, the same child's body is hurled with a force that is equivalent to nearly a ton. Even the most protective parent cannot guard his or her offspring against such super-human forces. The result: more than 6,000 children are killed each year as a result of accidents in which the child is thrown in and about the car. In addition, there are literally thousands who are injured, many with serious head, neck, and spine injuries.

What can we do to protect our children? Obviously, the first and most important safety step is to make certain the child sits when in the car—not in someone's lap, but on the seat. Second, use seat belts with chest restraints. And make certain the belts are properly installed with proper attachment to the body of the car. Third, be careful of baby car seats and cribs. To be safe, they must be securely fastened—which means they must be able to resist a force far greater than the power of a human. Ideally, some provision should be made to secure them to the body of the car, possibly by criss-crossing safety belts into a restraining position.

And last but not least, a child should have a spinal examination by a doctor of chiropractic when even a minor collision or unusual incident occurs. An accident need not be serious to cause serious injury. Children, like adults, are subject to whiplash and other structural problems as a result of shock and awkward or unnatural movement. Too often, immediate cided to note in the Town Report where partial payments on 1979 taxes had been made. This will be done by placing an asterisk after outstanding balances when partial payment has been made and noting at the bottom of the page "Outstanding balance—partial payment received on or before December 31, 1979."

The Town Clerk reviewed with the Board the time frame for nominating petitions to be available for the 1980 Municipal Election. The 1980 local election will be Tuesday, March 11, 1980, with nomination papers being available Dec. 17, 1979. Nominating papers must be returned by Monday, Feb. 4, 1980.

It was decided that the cover of the 1979 Annual Town Report would have a picture or sketch of the library to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the library in 1979. Selectman Stanley Howe will be working with the office staff to develop the cover.

In other action, the Board approved a parade permit for the Chamber of Commerce Christmas parade on Friday, Dec. 14, at 7 p.m., signed State Snow Removal Reimbursement Forms, and directed the office staff to develop an application form for organizations wishing to use the Common.

The next meeting of the Selectmen will be Monday evening, Dec. 10. At the meeting the Selectmen will meet with the Safety Committee and interview persons having indicated an interest in serving on the Recreation Board.

It should be noted that the deadline for submitted budget requests and warrant articles for the 1980 Annual Town Meeting is Friday, Dec. 14.

Hunting and Fishing licenses are now available for 1980. Prices have increased with the exception of junior licenses. The prices are as follows: Junior Hunting, $1.50; Combination, $16.50; Hunting, $9.50; Fishing, $9.50; Serviceman's Combination, $5.50; Archery, $9.50.

CHANGES IN DOG LICENSING FEES AND PROCEDURES

Owners and keepers of dogs six months old or over as of January 1, 1980 or at such time such dog becomes six months old must get a license annually.

The 1980 fees are as follows: male dogs, $6.50; female dogs, $6.50; spayed females, $3.00, and neutered males, $3.00. All dogs will be considered capable of producing young unless a certificate issued by a licensed veterinarian is presented stating that the dog was made incapable of producing young.

Fees collected for the State in the past have gone to the State in total. This year the State portion of fees collected for spayed females and neutered males will be retained by the town to assist with expenses incurred by the animal control officer.

The Bethel Town Office will issue licenses only to those dog owners and keepers who show proof of immunization against rabies. Also necessary are spaying certificates for female dogs or certificates of neutering for male dogs. Certificates previously shown must be shown again for proper recording of numbers per state requirements. Rabies shots are good for two years and plans are now in progress for a clinic in December with time and location to be announced later.

"BETHEL FOR MEETINGS AND CONFERENCES" LOOKED INTO BY CHAMBER & INNKEEPERS

On Wednesday, two Bethel representatives attended a meeting called for the purpose of developing an effective program of meeting and conference business by the Maine Publicity Bureau. The meeting was held in Augusta and was attended by a variety of persons from the tourist and convention industry. Steve Wight and Donald Bennett attended the meeting from Bethel.

The initial objective of the chamber of commerce and those of its members who have conference support facilities is to develop a package of information which can be used to attract business from firms and organizations looking for relatively small conference sites that provide a favorable degree of isolation from the daily grind and an atmosphere conducive to friendly, unhurried meetings.

Noting that NTL provides a significant boost to the local economy in the summer, it is the view of key chamber members that encouraging some growth in this form of business will improve the health of much of our retailing and services during traditionally slow periods.

Businesses most interested in developing this program include: The Bethel Inn, Sunday River Inn, Moses Mason Museum, The Bethel Spa Motel and l'Auberge with active support from the chamber's Main Street Committee. Additionally, as the program evolves it is anticipated that Gould Academy will be included in its development.

MAINE UNEMPLOYMENT RATE 6.2% IN OCTOBER

David W. Bustin, Commissioner of the Department of Manpower Affairs has announced that Maine's unemployment rate rose from 5.8% in September to 6.2% in October. Most of the increase in unemployment was caused by the substantial seasonal decline in agricultural employment, as the apple and potato harvest ended.

Over-all employment increased slightly between October 1978 and October 1979, but the number of new jobs created was not sufficient to absorb the increase in the number of people looking for work. During the year, significant employment gains occurred in services, government, and metals and machinery; however, these gains were largely offset by losses in contract construction, leather and leather products, and food and kindred products.

Due licenses only to those dog owners and keepers who show proof of immunization against rabies. Also necessary are spaying certificates for female dogs or certificates of neutering for male dogs. Certificates previously shown must be shown again for proper recording of numbers per state requirements. Rabies shots are good for two years and plans are now in progress for a clinic in December with time and location to be announced later.

Last night was full of the moon and when I woke up the moon shining through the window had thrown a shadow of the window and curtains on the opposite wall also lighting up the room so one had a feeling of peace. When I got out of bed I quickly went to the window to look out over the grove and apple trees. The moon was hanging low over the mountains and over the trees. The stars seem brighter in December than any other time of the year and, of course, it was a star that brought the wise men to baby Jesus. I left the picture reluctantly to go into the kitchen to get the fire started and the coffee. After these were done, I went again to look and the moon had dropped behind the mountain, leaving only a trace of a glow. Now it has entirely dropped and has taken all its light with it. Now I go into the kitchen and look out that window and see a thin strip of pink peeking over the horizon reflecting itself into the river and the river maps softly swaying in the wind. Can we not view these awesome sights of nature and not believe. The Indians called it the Great Spirit and, do we not also, call God a Spirit and yet the whites called the Indians heathens. With the Christmas season upon us I just wish that the world tensions would ease themselves out.

— Mrs. Celista Morgan, Corres. —

Tonight the air is warm. The stars are shining brightly, tiny dots of silver overhead in a sky so black, strikingly beautiful. It's an evening to remember; the silently moving water darkened by trees, their shadows and reflections stretching out from shore. The murky darkness of water broken only by the sound of lapping nearby. How welcome after the rains!

I came in to write this. It didn't snow so I went to the hills this week; this time for a real woody walk. The day was bright and sunny, not the kind conducive to working. However I did come back to pile some of the split wood and found that fun, too. Anything outside that day was fun.

I went up Fox Hill where I saw the deer last week. Along the road ferns still green, grew as luxuriant as earlier fall. They looked wistful, maybe for lack of appreciation in such a remote place. By following the road I would have come out at the right of the spring. But I turned to the steeper path, the way of the pipe line.

I stood here and looked out over the valley. Just beyond the spring a huge oak stood. There is always something honest and dependable about a big oak tree and I especially enjoy this one.

The rains and wind like November harvesters had gathered most of the leaves and piled them with others across the forest floor. This section so beautiful in October brooded in its bareness. I missed the birds, which heeding the warning of approaching winter had spread their wings and taken off to the southland. The departure of all these feathered things caused a feeling of loneliness. I kept on up over the hills, feeling the tiredness in my legs from a month of no climbs.

I twisted back through the woods to the abandoned log road. It was flanked with stands of trees. The middle had somewhat grown to bushes. In places there were greasy mud blots and little pools of old rain. I stood in silence in my environment remembering when heavy trucks traveled here with their loads.

As usual the red squirrel was out making a torrent of angry notes. With a rush toward me I presumed he intended to scare me into retreat. But when he saw that I refused, he retreated, and set himself up to reconnoiter on a branch. He scrutinized every movement I made, jerking up and down, eyeing me all the time. Finally growing calmer he settled down in a comfortable position where he could command the view and decided to eat his butternut which he had at first was carrying. How he worked, and this time had nothing to say. When I reached the gate I then turned left then right and on down a path through a stand of trees that led to the main road, walking down along the pond. By one of the camps, I noticed a leaf floating on a ripple, dipping and soaring, disappearing and then reemerging, trying hard to decide whether or not to drown.

Reaching home I stopped to look at my pansies still in bloom, their pretty faces looking up at me. Now as I finish this and look out at the night again, bloated moon, like a huge brass gong, one side a bit missing, comes over Noyes Mountain. An owl hoots from the swamp. It's bed time and I am ready for the rest.

BELSTAR HOOPSTERS STOPPED BUCKFIELD TUESDAY, 51-35

Height proved to be the difference Tuesday night as Buckfield High School defeated host Telstar, 51-35, in a non-league basketball contest.

Mike Berg was the high scorer for the winners, registering 20 points, while Allen added 12. Tony Butters and Keith Bartlett led Telstar with eight each.

PRE-CHRISTMAS WORKSHOP FOR PARENTS

Do you want to enjoy this Christmas more with your children?

Many parents have mixed feelings about holidays—their children blackmail them to get presents they've seen on T.V. and then complain when toys break; parents expect too much of themselves; and what started out as a close family holiday develops into a time of conflict or stress.

Stan Davis and Pat Miller, parent educators, will present a program to help parents enjoy this holiday time more—at the Multi-Purpose Center, 145 Birch Street, Lewiston, Thursday, Dec. 13, 11 a. m. to 12:30. Admission is free.

An evening program will be offered if there is interest. If interested call Stan Davis or Pat Miller at 783-9141.

TEEN ACTIVITY

Two local women have been working for a couple of months on developing some way of improving the conditions for area teenagers during week ends and vacations. Lyn Bristol and Gail Sysko have met several times, having contacted parents and others who might be willing or able to assist.

The first attempt at having an activity, failed when it was found that school buses are not available for any activity that isn't school oriented, despite the fact that this would be for the youngsters. The activity planned was a trip to Rumford to the annual Christmas show.

Gail and Lyn are not giving up. They will investigate other sources for group travel for future activities such as rock concerts, classical music concerts, live plays, shopping trips, etc. Meantime, the show in Rumford is next week end at Muskie Auditorium, Rumford High School, Dec. 14 and 15 at 7:30. The second workshop, Christmas cookies, with Merton Brown, is filled, but there are still a few openings for Dec. 19, Natural Christmas Ornaments taught by Jean Ness. Registrations are being accepted by phone at the Adult and Community Education office at Telstar, 824-2136.

Anyone who is interested in the high school diploma program in S. A. D. #44 is urged to contact Director Cathy Newell as soon as possible. A high school diploma may be closer than you think, with the credit system for work, military and homemaking experience, and interesting and useful classes. Classes for the second term of the diploma program will begin during the last week in January.

Several non-credit classes will also begin in late January, with the majority of the second term Adult and Community Education classes set to start following the February vacation. Information on schedules and registration will be distributed in January.

ADULT ED. ASTRONOMY CLASS TO START DEC. 13

"Twinkle, twinkle little star..." Oh, those cold winter evenings will soon be upon us. You step outside, and as though compelled by some mysterious force, you gaze upward and you are immediately rewarded for before you unfolds the beauty of the visible universe! You stand in awe at what you see — just as countless generations did before you — and as countless more will do so in the future. How often have we looked but never truly seen? How often have we said: "I'd like to understand but it must be too complicated. The only astronomy courses available are college level and I don't want to travel." "I'd take a course if it was short, inexpensive, close by, and the teacher promised not to laugh at me!"

Say no more—it's here! A five evening Adult and Community Education course beginning Thursday, Dec. 13, at Telstar Regional High School. Starting time is 6:30 in Room, 105, with instructor Tim Kersey of the Telstar Science Department.

Topics to be discussed include: heavenly bodies, telescopes, seasons, galaxies, the Zodiac, horoscopes, sundials, calendars, constellations, star identification, the Christmas Star, and biographical sketches of those people who made astronomy a science. Add to all this an evening at the Southworth Planetarium at the University of Southern Maine.

Interested? Then join the class in an adventure you will not soon forget. To register, phone the Adult Education office at Telstar, 824-2136.

Have you taken steps to prevent your water pipes from freezing?
More and more people are using alternative methods to heat their homes — such as wood stoves. In doing so there may not be sufficient heat in the basement to prevent the water pipes from freezing. If this is the situation in your home you may want to take measures to protect your plumbing to avoid inconvenience and costly repairs.
